Reilly starts the meeting at 9:41pm.

Looking at past productions, we did Ms. RPI last Tuesday right before the members meeting. This production needs to be edited; it was a two-camera shoot.

Last Wednesday RPI TV filmed the GM/PU debates. There was mad chaos in the chat room, which we will not use again until it has been fixed. Other than that, Reilly drove some buses across the bottom of the screen. The audio was good after the first 5 minutes. The production is finally up on the website and available for viewing. Reilly begins defending Google Chrome while Charlie advocates for Firefox.

Marc exclaims that he has found "the gayest thing he has ever seen." The meeting now focuses on the bus animations used during the GM/PU debates.

The meeting switches topics to lacrosse. Despite the lackluster attendance, the production went very well. Ryan Kemper offers advice to avoid getting hangovers. Mike DiTore offers advice regarding putting events on the calendar, so crewmembers know what events are going on. We will be trying lacrosse again on May 1; it will be a night game vs. union.

Upcoming things:

Thursday we are double booked. At 6:00pm, we will have the finale of the benchmarking, which will be a two-camera postproduction shoot. We need two people for this event. James Petranik and Alex Niaura kindly volunteer their services.

At the exact same time, the SSTF will be hosting the RSVP event starts at 5:30 and will include a lively discussion between students and members of the administration. This event will be live cut, including one camera and the PowerPoint presentation used at the event. This event will require 3-4 crewmembers which will consist of Reilly Hamilton, Zach Rowe, Alex Niaura (somehow in two places at once), Mike DiTore, and Lydia Campis(if she is available).

We are no longer doing Relay for Life. This year's event will not be live cut, streamed, or filmed for its duration. We hope to cover this event as a news event, covering the cool "cancer events" going on during this event. Helping with the News Production will be Andrew Armenia, Andrew Tamoney, Tiffany Milano, Alex Niaura, Marc Ebuna, Zach Rowe, and Kenley Cheung. Mike DiTore will be producing this event.

Mike and Scott discuss if an Associate Member of the club can hold Equipment Operator levels.

Reilly transitioned "out of Marc Ebuna and into Saturday."

Brian Zaik announces that he is here representing the Union Executive Board, and asks how everyone is doing. No one responds. Reilly asks "Mr. EBoard" rep keep his remarks to himself. Brian Zaik threatens Reilly with unknown sanctions.

Urinetown will be filmed on Saturday 7:00pm closet time. Crew for this event will include Gabriel Malveaux, Lydia Campis, Marc Ebuna, Kyle Mackenzie, Morgan Mauro, and Alex Niaura. Since we have so many people, we will switch through "camera-ators."

Andrew Tamoney examines the back of his watch.

Future Productions:

RPI Autocross - Alex will be scouting this event over the weekend.

Dance Recital - May 8 @ EMPAC. Marc would like to volunteer for this production.

Committee Reports

Tiffany says we are good operation-wise.

Reilly reveals a letter. Charlie states the return address for the letter is in a sketchy location. Reilly will not read this letter because it is in a strange font.

Zach reports the station is doing well and he is reviewing the bin organizational structure. Reilly mentions we have a new shiny "toilet-shaped" DVD printer. Reilly states our toilet is cool, and will enhance the club.

Business Manager Kyle has nothing to report claiming, "Reilly spoiled everything." Reilly commands him to buy a laundry list of items, which this secretary failed to record.

Reilly reminds the members present "Alex is next everyone." She informs the group she still working on the bulletin board. The membership applauds Trigs for hand drawing an ad featured on Concerto.

Andrew Tamoney begins the Programming Report, telling the club there has been a lot of news-worthy events going on we should be covering. There should be some more information on the news list, and we will be pulling together a list of the footage we have.

Mackenzie Sullivan will host a meeting Saturday @ 2:00pm to work on some storyboarding.

Sean is absent from the meeting and unable to provide the RPI Sports Sports report, but Lacrosse will be soon.

James Petranik reports we have already covered the past events. James will be producing a creative production based on Rock Band and is wondering if anyone is experienced in theatrical lighting design. This event will be filmed to look like a rock concert. If anyone knows where there is a better, realistic, location for this event besides West Hall, please contact James.

Jon Goldszmidt indicates there is a lot of news to be edited. He encourages membership to email rpity-news@union.rpi.edu if news is spotted around campus.

Kyle seizes the floor and suggests we acquire red DVD cases. James believes some green cases would be nice to complement the SSTF RSVP event.

Andrew Armenia reports the donut fund will explore pizza for future for meetings. Andrew will remain in charge of the food predicament division and is excited to hear funding is available.

Morgan Mauro's birthday is tomorrow. Many members clapped in celebration.

The meeting adjourns at 10:15pm.
