Meeting Began at 21:37.

This is the first meeting this semester at which we have potential new members. Also of note, Eric Klauser is sitting on the desk in front of the President.

Joe Goullaud reported on this past Wednesday's recording of WRPI's Wednesday Night Live, which was not recorded live the first time around, but was successful, and Joe Goullaud says that the crew learned a lot about shooting the production.

After break, there is also a Battle of the Bands, which the club will record and might be a good experience for new members.

Charlie Emala says that the Hockey games, which are now being broadcast live, are becoming popular on campus, including being watched live at the Union Pub.

Joe Goullaud says that Friday's game versus Yale went very well. Charlie Emala said that Saturday's game versus Brown, despite many crew changes during the game, was also very successful.

Because of the new members, Charlie Emala, would like to set up an equipment training session for after break.

Dan Falkenstrom reported on What's Up RPI, which he plans to capture to hard drive this week and edit over spring break, so that it can be aired the first week back.

The meeting was adjourned at 21:58.
