

RPI TV Meeting Minutes

2007 March 13

Officers Present

Charlie Emala, Eric Klauser, Joe Goullaud, Mike DiTore, Brian Zaik, Dan Falkenstrom, Brian Michalski, Tony Furtado, Sean Andrese

Members Present:

Scott Altman, Andrew Clark, Mike Filippone, Kendra Krueger, Eric Pratt, Rob Prescott, Dennis Rochon

Meeting Began at 21:42.

Charlie Emala asked everyone to welcome a new member, his roommate Dennis Rochon. Many people did so.

Last week was Spring Break, so there were no past events.

The club spent three minutes making fun of Eric Klauser.

Charlie Emala announced that there are 4,942 hours and 43 minutes until the beginning of the next hockey game.

Upcoming events include the candidate speeches, at the end of March. For Mike Filippone's benefit, Charlie Emala explained that this is before April begins. Several requests have been received via email and via Instant Message to Brian Zaik, the club will respond shortly.

This Wednesday Joe Goullaud will live the second filming of WRPI's Wednesday Night Live. Some people volunteered to help out.

Next Tuesday is a New Members meeting, so all club members should try to attend. The club will advertise, but has not done so yet because the guy at the poly has filled his email quota. Charlie Emala gave up after receiving the bounced message, but Brian Zaik will pursue the matter. Several people volunteered to poster campus for the meeting.

April 5 ("Cinco de Mayo!" --Mike Filippone) is an RPI Dance Club event, from which the club will make a profit if enough volunteers are found. Volunteers were not listed, because it is so far away.

Vice President of Programming Joe Goullaud reported that "over spring break, we had had a [great deal] of broadcasts airing." The club would like to keep this up.

Charlie Emala announced that the club has finally finished something. Doraj! [Applause.] Just kidding.

Actually, what's up RPI is finished. The first episode is ready to air, and will be screened after the meeting.

Eric Klauser has neither a mute button nor an easy button. Charlie Emala has no response.

Charlie Emala, Eric Pratt, and Andy Clark recently attended an E-Board meeting, and got approved the club's new purpose statement, which reads as follows:

The purpose of RPI TV shall be to: (1) provide audiovisual recording and distribution services to the RPI community, (2) inform and entertain the RPI community by making publicly available campus events, original programming, and other audiovisual productions through any audiovisual medium such as the campus cable television system and the Internet, and (3) provide a forum for student expression and creativity.

Sports Manager Sean Andrese suggested that the club might want to film a baseball game, and has one in mind which WRPI is thinking about announcing also. Joe Goullaud says that WRPI is still working on it.

There are no refreshments this meeting because nobody knew the phone number of Hoosick pizza. Several members demanded a refund, but we will have both donuts and pizza at the next meeting.

Charlie Emala announced that we are now several minutes closer to puck drop.

The meeting was adjourned at 21:57. A preview of What's Up RPI followed.
